HALF-MILLION FOR HARBOR WORK

Recommendation of Army Engineer Carries That Amount for Honolulu.

HILO BREAKWATER ALSO IN IT

It Is Estimated That $1,300,000
More Is Needed to Complete
That Work.

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, November 14.—The army engineers, through the annual report of General Marshall, the chief of the engineers, asks congress for an appropriation of $500,000 for Honolulu harbor, to be expended during the fiscal year which begins July 1 next, and $600,000 for continuing the Hilo breakwater during the same period. In view of the word that went forth to slash all river and harbor improvement estimates this request for the two big Hawaiian projects is regarded as very generous. Maj. E. E. Winslow, who has been in charge of harbor improvements in the engineer district of Hawaii since November 12, 1908, estimates that $828,894.60 will be required to complete the project at Honolulu and $1,300,000 to complete the project at Hilo.

The report has only a brief allusion to Pearl Harbor, which is being dredged under the supervision of the navy department. No work was done by the army on that project during the year. There was expended $29.60 for telegrams and for a rubber stamp, paid out of the unexpended balance standing to the credit of that project on the army's books, which left $423.06 remaining unexpended. This will probably be converted back into the treasury. There is also an allusion in the report to the reclamation of Quarantine Island, on which $20,000 has been expended exhausting the appropriation. No work was done there during the year but an unexpended balance of $2.75 was used. After making some reference to the location of the Honolulu project, the chief of engineers says of it in his annual report:

GOLDEN COMPANY IS WORTH SEEING

With the introduction of the Jack Golden Musical Comedy Company to Honolulu last night at the Orpheum, theatricals in the Hawaiian Islands have advanced a bit and the audience got as good as they deserved, knew it, and were satisfied and more.

It is the cleanest company of its kind that has been down here for some time and shows none of the dance hall frills that some of its predecessors have. It is the regular type of the stock companies of the small theaters on the Coast and for that class is good.

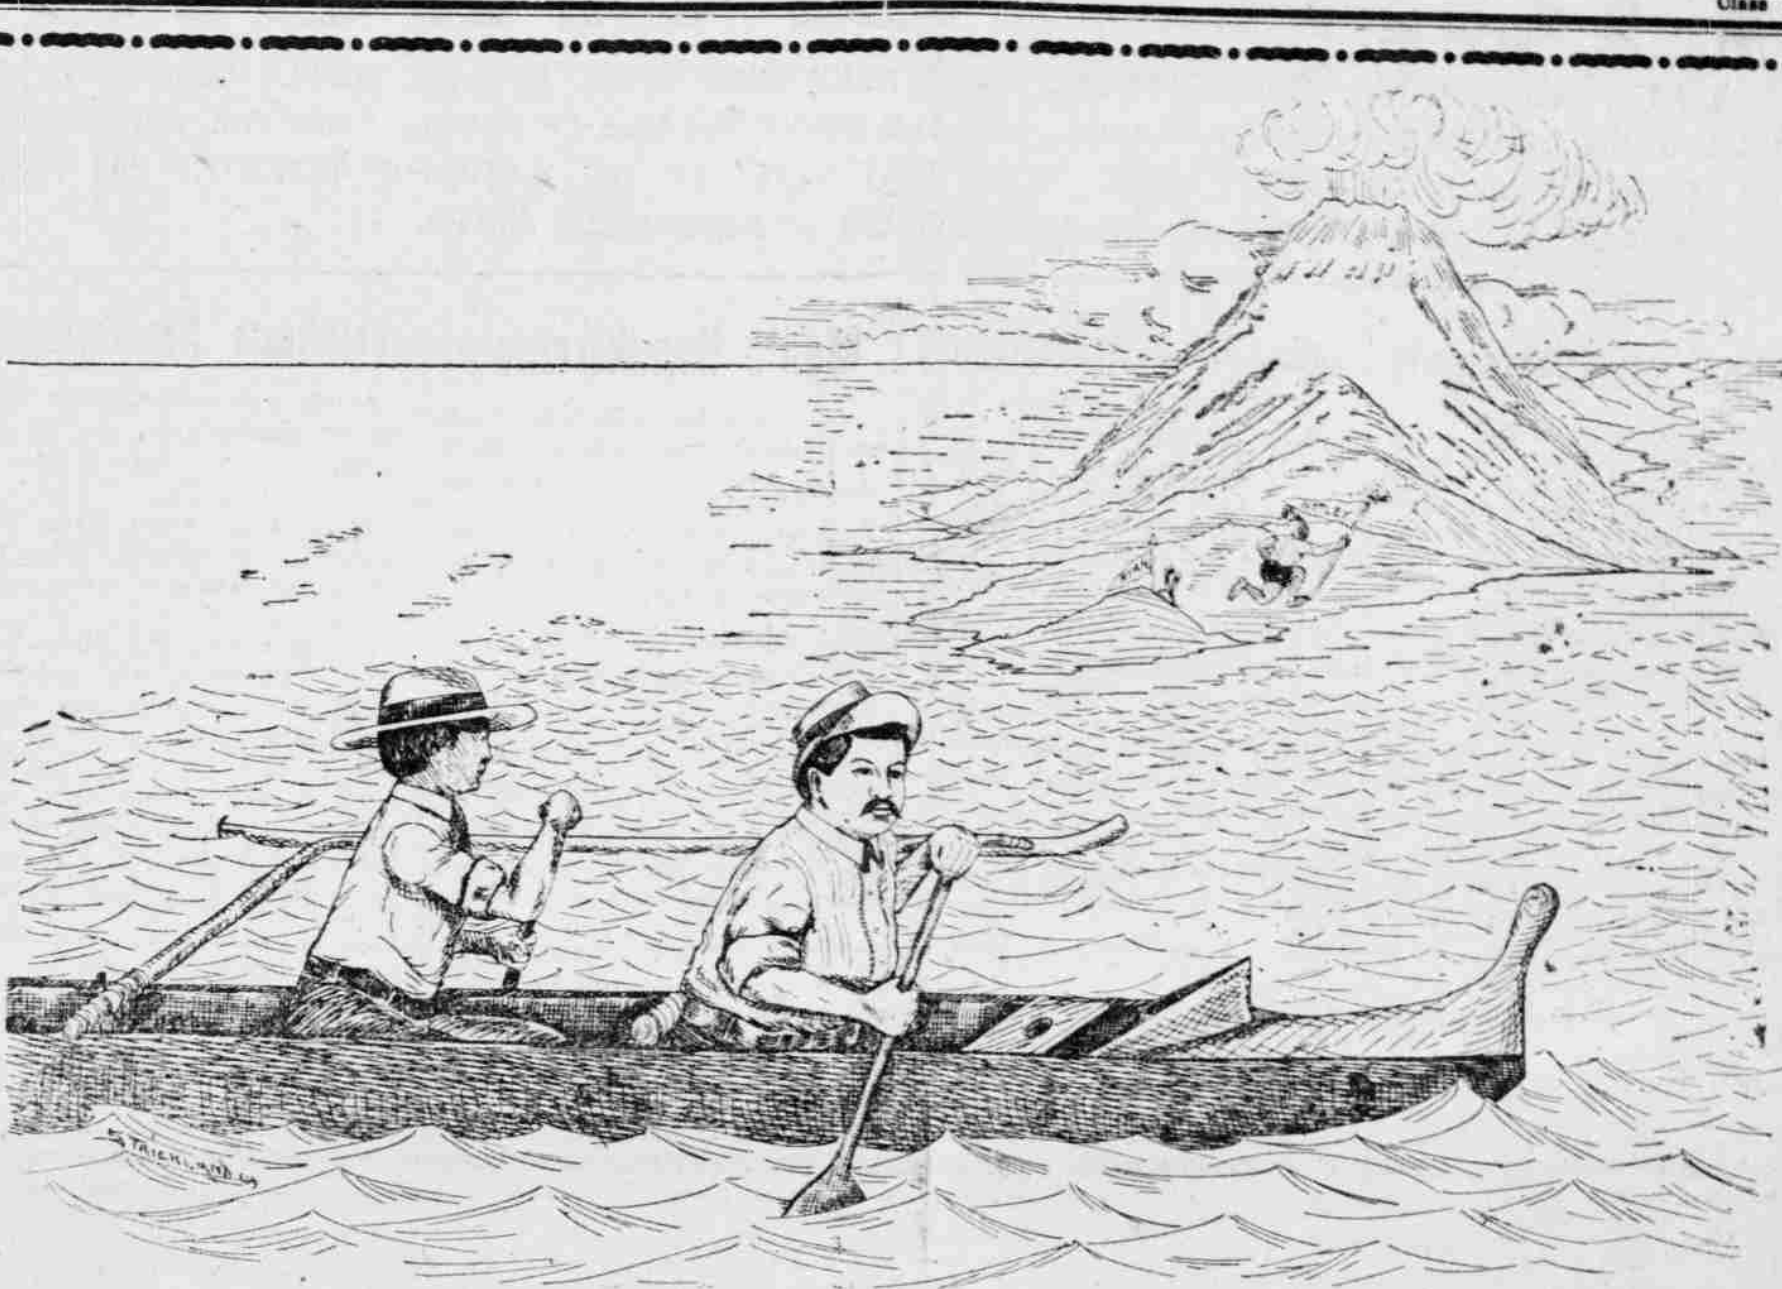

In a one act skit last night, a creation of "Golden" himself, which he has named "The Mexican-German," the company went through its paces and proved itself a good entertainer. Golden himself is by far the best thing there and the whole skit hangs on him. His patter is good, prompt and timely and he uses his face to advantage.

Birdie De Laire as "Mexico" was petite and charming and as the leading lady played up to the leading man in style. W. B. Wheelan as the American lieutenant is respectable, fits his uniform, and makes love to the ladies like an officer and a gentleman. C. Lynton, as the Beloved Tormentor, did good work and when he and Golden teamed up for a description of a bull fight they both "got" the audience.

M. Kiter, Alene Johnson, Phemie Edwards and others of the company work well together and put up good clean comedy, well appreciated. The chorus takes the prize over anything that Caterer Joe Cohen has dished up for some time. It is pretty, dances well, is "cute" when needs be and stately, petite and frolicsome in turn.

The plot of the act seems to hinge on the fact that Golden, "The Mexican-German" is not a bull fighter, but to please a lady, dresses up in a tormentor's suit and entering the arena has a terrific fight—behind the scenes—with a horde of animals who drop dead with disgust. He returns victorious to meet the real genuine article, C. Lynton, and falls into complications generally.

The company is worth seeing, presents clean comedy and deserves to have a good long engagement.

MISS HALL LOSES TO MRS. COULTER

Brilliant Tennis Playing by Experts Delights Enthusiastic Spectators.

In the presence of a large and fashionable throng, Mrs. Coulter, formerly Miss Horner, defeated Miss Miriam Hall, holder of the Hawaiian championship, yesterday afternoon on the Beretania courts by the remarkable score of 6-1, 6-2. A unique feature of the way the games ran was the winning of nine straight games by Mrs. Coulter before Miss Hall recovered from the run of ill-luck which followed her throughout the two sets.

Both ladies gave a splendid exhibition of tennis, and at times the contest was so keen, with the ball lobbing back and forth, true and swift, that the spectators frequently broke into applause. Mrs. Coulter actually showed championship form throughout the game, as well as in the mixed doubles in which she participated later. As Miss Hall is rated possibly third among the women of the United States on the tennis courts, yesterday's games showed that Mrs. Coulter is forging to the front as an expert with the racket.

Her playing throughout was an exhibition of remarkable control over the delivery of the ball, whether from the serve or in the return, and equally at home in the direct or back-hand stroke. The latter stroke is masterful, and has the quality of excellent wrist control, by which the ball was "placed" almost where she wished. Standing back close to the rear line and in the center of it, she received Miss Hall's return lobs with scarcely an effort and so "placed" the balls that Miss Hall was kept on the move from side to side of her court.

GREAT INTEREST IN LEAL'S FATE

The police committee of the board of supervisors met yesterday for their second meeting called to investigate whatever charges the sheriff was prepared to bring against the suspended chief of detectives, Joe Leal. The members were all there and a representative of the city attorney's office was all ready to carry the investigation along the lines of legal lucidity. The sheriff was also present, while A. M. Brown, Willie Crawford, Charley Chillingworth, William Welch and others who are or have been connected with the police and city attorney's office were also there.

The scene setting was good, but unfortunately the sheriff announced that owing to the enforced absence of his deputy, Charles Rose, he had not been able to get into shape the real definite charges he might be able to produce if given more time.

Deputy City Attorney Milverton urged the early production of the charges but failed to get anything more definite than that they would probably be in shape by Saturday next. With that the deputy had to be satisfied.

The fact that the supervisors have no authority over the sheriff and his selection of assistants makes improbable the report that they are threatening to put Leal back in office after Saturday next, whether the sheriff likes it or not, if his charges are not ready.

COL. SCHUYLER FOR WASHINGTON

Senior Army Officer in Hawaii
Detailed to General
Staff Duty.

CALL IS QUITE SIGNIFICANT
His Advancement May Result in Step for Lieutenant Colonel Hunter.

Col. Walter Schuyler, Fifth Cavalry, U.S.A., commanding Schofield Barracks, Lelehu, and the senior army officer in the Hawaiian Islands on active duty, has been detailed on the general staff of the army which has its headquarters at Washington.

The board of general officers appointed for the purpose of making recommendations for the filling of existing and expected vacancies in the general staff, selected officers from various branches of the army. Those from the cavalry men are Colonel Schuyler, Maj. Henry T. Allen, Eighth Cavalry; Maj. Guy Carleton, Fourth Cavalry; and Capt. Malin Craig, First Cavalry.

There may be more than the usual significance attached to the selection of Colonel Schuyler, in that it may mean the formation of a military district out of the Hawaiian Islands, with Colonel Schuyler as the staff officer in command, reporting however to the divisional commander, General Barry, at San Francisco. Should the district be organized, as service officer declare will shortly take place, it will be a portion of the Department of California, but with certain privileges which will relieve the local establishment of much of the embarrassments and delays consequent upon having to refer all matters to San Francisco.

With the special detail of Colonel Schuyler may shortly come the promotion of Lieutenant-Colonel Hunter, to the senior command of the Fifth Cavalry, his promotion being about due.

INJURIES FINALLY RESULTED IN DEATH

The injuries received by Alexander Morrison a week ago in the shop of Catton & Neill where he was head moulder, proved fatal yesterday morning, he succumbing to them at three o'clock at the Queen's Hospital where he was being treated.

Interment will be at Nuuanu cemetery and the services will take place today from the K. of P. hall. Members of the Honolulu Aerie 140, F. O. E., to which lodge he belonged, will assemble at their hall at a quarter to two.

Morrison, who was a native of Glasgow, had been in the Islands about fourteen years and was known and liked everywhere. He was but thirty-eight years old at the time of his death. He had a circle of intimate friends with whom he was always associated and they became known in the same manner as Dumas' famous creations, "The Inseparables." His comrades, and those who knew the manner in which they held him, mourn him deeply.

KALUHIMOKU IN TWO ACCIDENTS

Hawaiian's Skull Is Fractured
by His Being Hurlled From a Hack.

MAY COST HIM HIS LIFE
Patrol Wagon Taking Wounded
Man to Hospital, Struck by Street Car.

Kaluhimoku, a Hawaiian, was nearly killed yesterday afternoon in front of the capitol by being violently hurled from a runaway hack, and while being hurried to the hospital in the patrol wagon a few minutes later, his extinction was all but completed by the police wagon being struck by a rapidly running street car at the corner of Beretania and Punchbowl street. Fortunately, although one of the police horses was so badly injured that he had to be shot afterwards, the wounded man suffered no further injuries except the shock of being thrown from the stretcher to the bottom of the wagon. He was carried to the hospital in another conveyance and his injuries attended to. He is very badly hurt, having sustained a fracture of the skull, and was still unconscious last night.

Just how the first accident occurred nobody seems to know, except that the horse attached to a Chinese hack took fright at something and ran away. Kaluhimoku, who was riding in the hack, probably attempted to jump and struck the hard road with his head. The hack was badly smashed up.

ATCHERLEY GHOST BOBS UP SERENELY

And still the Atcherley case continues to bob up about once in so often—and sometimes oftener. Every time the lawyers and judges think they have the ghost laid for a while, it crawls out of the grave and begins to do its stunts all over again.

Another phase of the matter will come up tomorrow, this time before Wade Warren Thayer, referee in bankruptcy. Mr. Thayer thought he was going to escape, but nobody escapes the Atcherley case—at least, nobody connected with the courts.

J. A. Magoon appeared as attorney for Doctor Atcherley when the doctor was tried before a jury. Atcherley got off that time, and Magoon presented a little bill of $2500 for his services. Mrs. Atcherley, however, went into bankruptcy, and Magoon and his bill were left in the air. But he has presented his bill against the bankrupt estate—and Mrs. Atcherley objects. So do the other creditors. Consequently, the matter will come up before Judge Thayer, and it is up to him to decide what Magoon's services were really worth. A merry time is anticipated.

XMAS FRUIT HAS POOR OUTLOOK

Last Express for Coast for the Holidays Leaves Three Weeks Early.

Honolulu people who were figuring on sending Christmas packages by freight or express on the Lurline to their friends in the States are doomed to disappointment. The Lurline, which was scheduled to leave here on the 15th for San Francisco will probably not get away before the 20th, on account of being delayed several days in San Francisco. Consequently, the last boat on which Christmas freight or express can be sent to the East is the Mongolia sailing for San Francisco December 4. The Wells Fargo people report that they have received a large number of fruit orders for the Lurline. These will all either have to be canceled or the fruit will have to be sent so long ahead that the recipients will have forgotten about it by Christmas time, unless it is sent for New Years.

The last mail that can carry Christmas packages goes by the Tenyo Maru, sailing from Honolulu December 10. But the Tenyo cannot carry freight or express.

Honolulu is confronted with a generally bad arrangement of mail and package service for the Christmas holidays. The boats to arrive from San Francisco up to Christmas are as follows: Chiyo Maru, December 7; transport Logan, December 12; Asia, December 14; Alameda, December 17; Hilanian, December 22. The Mongolia arrives two days after Christmas. But only the Alameda and Hilanian can bring express matter.

Steamers leaving here with mails during December are the Alameda, sailing December 1; Mongolia, December 4; Tenyo Maru, December 10. This will be the last boat on which Christmas presents intended for either addresses in New York and San Francisco and intermediate points can be sent, if they are to receive the gifts before Christmas. The Lurline leaves on December 20, the Korea on December 21 and the Alameda, December 22, but the gifts will reach addresses about the end of the month.

A mail is due from Canada on December 19 by the Makura, and the one from the Colonies, bringing Christmas gifts will arrive from Sydney on December 8.

COOK SLIPS AWAY FOR COPENHAGEN

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, November 27.—It is reported here today that Doctor Cook, who claims to have reached the North Pole before Peary, has sailed for Europe. His departure must have been very quiet, as it was not generally known that he contemplated leaving America. It is presumed that he has gone to Copenhagen.

THE WAR REPORT IS DENIED

One Gunboat Goes South—Report in Washington of Landing Bluejackets.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, November 28.—An unusual amount of activity exists in connection with the three vessels of the army transport service here, but it is denied that this sudden rush to prepare the vessels for early clearing is in connection with the Nicaraguan trouble. At the present time the Logan, Buford and Crook are in port here, while there are two more transports at the Sound ports, the Burnside and Dix.

The cruiser New Orleans, which it was reported was being held here in readiness for a quick despatch to the south, yesterday received orders to leave for the Asiatic station. She will sail in company with the Albany.

Gunboat Sails for the Scene.

Bluejackets Reported Landed.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—There is an unconfirmed rumor here that the cruiser Des Moines has landed a force of bluejackets at Greytown, Nicaragua, at the mouth of the San Juan River, south of Bluefields.

SPAIN DECIDES THAT SHE HAS ENOUGH

Will Abandon Campaign in Morocco and Withdraw Her Troops.

(By Associated Press.)

MADRID, November 28.—The Spanish cabinet has decided that the game in Morocco is not worth the candle, and the campaign there against the Rifian Moors is to be wound up and the troops gradually withdrawn. In September the Spanish forces at the front were increased to fifty thousand men, and a general advance against the Moors was commenced by General Marina. Despite the fall of Zeluan and Mount Guruga, the two Moorish strongholds, captured at a great cost in Spanish life, the Moors have not ceased in their activity, and the Spanish appear now to be facing the prospect of a holy war, in which the fighting men of all Northern Africa would rally against her.

BIG CROP DAMAGE IN PORTO RICO

(By Associated Press.)

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, November 28.—Just as this island is recovering from the effects of the great hurricane in June, comes the worst storm of many years, a gale blowing and torrential rain falling. Great damage has been done to the cane and to the pineapple and tobacco crops throughout the country.

Communication Cut Off.

NEW YORK, November 28.—Yesterday, owing to the severe gale raging in the West Indies, the islands of Antigua, Guadalupe and Martinique were cut off from communication with the rest of the world.
